Earle C. Anthony Rites Scheduled

Funeral services will be held Thursday for Earle C. Anthony, 80, Palm Springs winter resident, philanthropist, pioneer radio man and inventor of the gas station.

Final rites will be recited at 2 p.m. at the Church of the Resurrection at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Anthony, who died Sunday night at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco, was founder of radio station KFI in 1922 and still owned it at the time of his death. He organized the El Dorado Stage Lines, which later became Greyhound Lines, and owned automobile agencies in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Having lived in Palm Springs for some 35 years, Anthony became interested in many local projects, spending time and money in helping local youth. He took a part in the construction of both the Boys' Club and the Youth Center, and his work with the Boy Scouts was recognized throughout the state.

He built the cross which is on the hill over O'Donnell Golf Course and last Easter originated the idea of setting up a cross guard on the hill to keep the cross from being vandalized during the teen-agers visit here.

One of his big interests in Palm Springs has been the local police department, which he has supported greatly over the years. Among other things he set up the perpetual trophy for marksmanship in the department, and was a strong supporter of the Police Association.

Biggest Spending Program Ever Set In Latin America

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — Latin America today stood on the threshold of a $20 billion rainbow aimed at wiping out poverty, misery and hunger in the Western Hemisphere.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, in a forceful speech Monday before the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference here, described how President Kennedy's "Alliance for Progress" could provide a bright new future for the "have-not" nations of Latin America.

Dillon said most of the funds would come from the United States government — a spending program over the next decade that would be the biggest in the history of mankind.

But he said Latin American nations would have to sacrifice and help themselves.

He called the alliance "a revolutionary task," demanding "heroic efforts (of developing nations) to summon its people to the task of development... national programs of economic and social development (which) recognize the right of all the people to share fully in the fruits of progress."

To achieve this, Dillon said Latin America must gear for "difficult and far-reaching changes," including tax reforms, land reforms, lower interest rates on loans to small farmers and small business, greatly increasing housing, education and health programs.

Hundreds of civilian spectators lined roads in the area adjacent to the jump area to see the paratroopers hit the silk. Col. G. M. Griswold of the 2nd Airborne Battle group made the first jump. He was followed by thousands of men and tons of equipment.

These officials said after a preliminary reading of Khrushchev's radio-TV address Monday that it was not clear how close to the brink of war he was willing to go to oust the West from Berlin.

President Kennedy and the State Department refrained from immediate comment. The White House said Kennedy would have nothing to say until he could read a U.S. translation of the speech.

State Department Spokesman Lincoln White said "we're not going to shoot from the hip" in commenting on Khrushchev's statements. White said the speech would be studied carefully.

Some members of Congress saw a note of hope in Khrushchev's address, particularly in his promise not to blockade Berlin. But other officials noted that Khrushchev said on June 15 that his plan to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany would not deny the West access to Berlin.

The officials said Khrushchev had made it clear he still intends to force the West to deal with the Communist East Germans by dividing Germany permanently.

The only new elements in the Khrushchev speech, according to these sources, were his appeal to neutral nations for support and his use of the new Soviet space triumph to underline his tough military talk.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., called on Khrushchev to give assurances of "freedom for Berliners" rather than just protection of Allied rights in the former German capital.

K SPEECH BUILDS WORLD TENSION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. officials saw no softening of Soviet demands and no fresh hopes of negotiating a Berlin settlement in Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev's latest speech.

These officials said after a preliminary reading of Khrushchev's radio-TV address Monday that it was not clear how close to the brink of war he was willing to go to oust the West from Berlin.

President Kennedy and the State Department refrained from immediate comment. The White House said Kennedy would have nothing to say until he could read a U.S. translation of the speech.

Rusk Calls for More Strength In Berlin Crisis

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called on all its European allies today to step up their military strength without delay to meet the mounting Berlin crisis.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared before the permanent council of the 15-nation NATO council to report on the results of last weekend's Berlin talks by the Big Four Western foreign ministers.

Diplomatic informants said Rusk was calling on all the NATO States, Britain, France and West Germany in helping to bring NATO's "shield" in Europe nearer to full scheduled strength before the West opens what may be critical talks with the Soviets.

Rusk, U.S. NATO Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter and six advisers arrived at NATO's gleaming new headquarters building.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, who arrived here this morning after representing President Kennedy at the Ivory Coast independence anniversary celebrations also sat in at the meeting.

The session was described as "private" and even an official record was not kept.

A few hours earlier, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home flew back to London with a warning that negotiations with the Soviets would be pointless unless they stand a chance of succeeding.

In an obvious reference to Monday night's broadcast by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who demanded an East-West summit meeting, Home warned "there is no point in repeating the word negotiations. If negotiations are undertaken, they must be on a basis that would let them succeed and let them improve the situation."

It was announced officially that Rusk will fly to Rome Wednesday to meet with Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani and Foreign Minister Antonio Segni and then fly back to northern Italy to see West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at his Lake Como vacation retreat before returning to the United States.

Before he made his report, observers said Rusk was expected to tell the NATO council that there is "more than a theoretical chance" of war over Berlin.

Man Sought On Blythe Desert

BLYTE (UPI)—Rescue parties continued their search today for a prospector lost in the rugged desert near here after a deputy sheriff who had aided in bringing the man's two companions to safety died of heat stroke.

The three prospectors' jeep broke down Sunday afternoon some 50 miles southwest of here and when they failed to return to their Blythe homes that night an intensive search was begun by sheriff's deputies.

Capsule Hinted Piloted Down

Moscow (UPI)— Soviet space man Maj. Gherman Titov may have been in control of his spaceship Vostok II when it landed Monday, the official Soviet Tass news agency indicated today.

Tass said Titov gathered with Maj. Yuri Gagarin, his predecessor into space, and "quite a lot of other people" at a quiet cottage Monday night and discussed the flight in which Titov circled the earth 17 times in 25 hours and 18 minutes.

Youth Arrested In Girl's Death

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Dannie R. Binkley, 18, San Diego, was arrested today on suspicion of murder in the death of an 18-year-old girl whose body was found wedged in rocks on a flood control channel.

The body of Irether Wallace of San Diego was found Monday by students hunting biological specimens.

Police said the body was wedged between two boulders with five other rocks piled on top of it.

Detectives said Binkley was booked at City Jail after several hours of questioning. They did not disclose the evidence against him.

Deputy Coroner R.W. Ricker said Miss Wallace had been dead about two weeks. An autopsy was performed Monday night and findings were studied today.

Water Gushes In Line Break

A small water line broke just east of the police station near the corner of El Cielo Road and McCullum Way early this morning, police reported.

Air conditioning had to be shut off at City Hall for a short time when the water supply was cut but was back to normal this morning.

A pick-up truck got stuck in the mud at the site of the break, police said.

The Palm Springs Water Co. said it would not reveal how much water was lost.

Bids Slated For Topping Indian Avenue

Bids will be opened Aug. 24 on an estimated $12,000 Indian Avenue resurfacing job, Harold Stone, acting director of public works, announced today.

Stone said the four-lane street would be resurfaced from the City National Bank on the south to Alejo Road on the north. Work should begin the first week in September and will take about 10 days.

As part of the project, left-turn lanes will be painted on the street. And the Public Works Department is looking into possible construction of downtown Palm Springs' first automatic stoplight at the corner of Tahquitz and Indian avenues, Stone revealed.

The public works director also disclosed that his department would advertise for bids on construction of Camino Caballeros across Section 14 from Alejo to Ramon Road in about two weeks.

Other road projects scheduled for completion in time for the winter season include curbs, sewers, and paving in the section of North Riverside Drive from Camino Real on the west to Sunrise Way on the east, and the same work in the Grenfall Road and Warm Sands Place area.

Action Against 3 Firms Asked

On a recommendation of the Planning Commission, the City Council will be asked to direct the city attorney to take civic action against three firms in Section 30 reported as not complying with the city sign and building ordinances.

The action is asked against Chuck's Welding, Certified Sanitation, and I.M. Roofing Co.

At the same time the commission heard a report that other companies have attempted to bring their premises into conformity.

Supervisors Put Gag On County CD Chief

RIVERSIDE — Keith A. Dwyer, county civil defense coordinator, was told today to shut his mouth until county supervisors could decide whether to fire him.

The beleaguered official, who brewed a storm in his own and Los Angeles county when he reportedly advised Beaumont citizens to arm themselves to repel evacuees from the Los Angeles area in case of nuclear war, was instructed by an official vote by supervisors to make no statements on county civil defense policy "until order of the board."

Palm Springs Reacts

In the meantime, city officials in Palm Springs had given assurance that full cooperation in receipt and care of evacuees can be expected.

Police Chief August G. Kettmann of Palm Springs said he was "aghast" at statements that it would be necessary to fight off evacuees from other areas.

"I certainly regret the statements that when our own people are in need, that we should repel them and take reprisals against them," he said.

Councilman George Beebe Jr.

said, "We will do our utmost to take care of people. We want them to come here as tourists, and we'll want them if they're in trouble."

Trying To Assist

"We're trying to assist people in civil defense, and I think it's regrettable that anyone in an official capacity should make such statements."

Action by supervisors instructing Dwyer to cancel all speaking engagements and to make no public utterances came after Supervisors William Jones and Paul Anderson failed in their move to dismiss the controversial official.

Abstentions from voting by the other three supervisors killed that move, and County Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen was instructed to gather additional information on Dwyer's reported comments.

Supervisor Fred McCall indicated his only opposition to removing Dwyer from the civil defense post was lack of someone to replace him immediately. Board Chairman Norman Davis and Supervisor George Berkey said they want additional information before they act.

Planners Seek Reappointments

Palm Springs Planning Commission will recommend to the City Council next Monday night, that Commissioners John Miller and William Foster be reappointed to the commission for four-year terms.

The council has the authority to approve the recommendation or appoint others to the commission.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 8, the 220th day of the year with 145 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1940, the German Luftwaffe began a carefully planned assault on the British Isles, which was intended to knock out the Royal Air Force—the battle of Britain started.

In 1945, President Harry Truman signed the ratification of the United Nations charter.

In 1945, the Soviet Union declared war on Japan.

In 1955, delegates from 72 nations opened the first international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva, Switzerland.

A thought for today: Harry Truman said: "The responsibility of the great states is to serve and not to dominate the world."

Mrs. Kate Hattstaedt Passes Away at 106

Mrs. Kate M. Hattstaedt, 106, a resident here for five years, died last night in the Cedars Lodge Convalescent Home, Los Angeles, after a final illness of three months.

"Aunt Katie," who lived here with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Winter, 1790 N. Via Miraleste, was a co-founder with her late husband of the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago. The famed conservatory is now in its 78th year of operation, headed by her son, John R. Hattstaedt.

The diminutive, sparkling little lady had enjoyed keeping up with the world around her by scanning newspapers, magazines and watching some television until she was well into her 106th year. She enjoyed an occasional party, and was known in some Palm Springs supper clubs for her carefully-spaced appearances for an evening out with family and close friends.

As a girl, Mrs. Hattstaedt lived next to the Lincoln family after the death of the Civil War President, and as recently as her 105th birthday, liked to recall the early events of the post-Civil War period. She was secretary to the late showman Florenz Ziegfeld Jr. in Chicago prior to her marriage to John J. Hattstaedt.

Survivors are her son, John R. Hattstaedt, Chicago, and her daughter, Mrs. Louise Winter.

The Utter-McKinley Mortuary, Los Angeles, will prepare Mrs. Hattstaedt's ashes for shipment to Chicago, where inurnment and memorial services will be conducted.

Are these the ten best stocks to buy?

Our once-a-year report UNCOMMON VALUES IN COMMON STOCKS is just now off the press. This carefully researched report lists the ten stocks which we think are most likely to prosper during the year ahead.

Selection Was an Enormous Task Choosing these ten stocks was no easy job. Shearson research analysts personally visited the plants and offices of the nation's leading corporations, interviewed top management, and pored over a welter of published and unpublished corporate information. Their detailed reports were discussed at length by Shearson's investment policy board. Individual industry specialists were called in, their intimate knowledge of specific companies expertly probed, confirming a conviction—or a doubt. UNCOMMON VALUES IN COMMON STOCKS is the considered result of this months-long, painstaking research effort.

How Foolproof Are the Ten Selections? No one can say for certain, "Here are the ten best stocks to buy." But careful research can suggest which securities are most likely to show outstanding sales and earnings gains in a year of great market selectivity. These are stocks which enjoy a broad market and which have earned the respect of investors by a solid, consistent profit performance. Each of the ten has some important plus factor in products, marketing or management not yet clearly reflected in the price of the stock.

Which Ten and Why The report analyzes the ten stocks—including issues in missiles and electronics...motors...utilities...chemicals...drugs...finance...and other growth industries—and the reasons why each stock was chosen. Included in the booklet is a twelve-year record of performance which dramatically illustrates the value of these recommendations.

Get Your Copy of the New Report Now Anyone interested in sound, reasoned stock selection will want to read this compact 28-page booklet. Shearson will mail you a copy for only $1.00. JUDITH BARRY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Barry of Beverly Drive, leaves on the S.S. Israel, September 22, to spend one year with the Hoberman Workshop, located on a Kibbutz near Tel Aviv.

Judith Barry Chosen For Israel Trip

Each year, seventy-five boys and girls throughout the country are selected to spend a year at the Hoberman Workshop in Israel. This year, Judith Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Barry, of Beverly Drive, will join the group, which leaves from New York aboard the S.S. Israel, on September 22.

A 1960 graduate of Palm Springs High School, Judy was selected because of her activity in a Los Angeles Hoberman Youth Group. On a Kibbutz (collective farm) located outside of Tel Aviv, she will work, study and live a communal life for one year.

In order to compare family life in Israel with that in the United States, Judith will live with an Israeli family for three weeks.

Here, Judith is active in the Youth Group of Temple Isaiah, and was a member of the swimming team and netball at Palm Springs High.

With ambitions to become a registered nurse, Judith will begin studies at Chaffey Jr. College in Alta Loma in the fall of 1962.

No Destination Needed by Gals

A survey of 3,200 motoring men and women shows that women especially enjoy driving without an urgent destination. About three-fourths of the drivers said that motoring makes them feel relaxed, independent and free.

The survey, cited in "The Lamp," a publication of the Standard Oil Co., indicated that most Americans probably still enjoy the leisurely exploration of the country's byways as well as its highways.

Summer School at Redlands

"Butter! Butter! We've made real butter!" The exuberant cry of discovery reverberated from 25 second graders who were crowding and pressing themselves around an old-fashioned butter "dasher."

In the center of the group, composed and smiling was the teacher, Mrs. Beatrice Flanders who had strived for such a response.

In the foregoing, seemingly non-spectacular, event of butter-making, young Redlanders had been involved in an activity which interwove science, history, social studies, health, arithmetic and even music.

In another classroom down the hall of Franklin School, a study of Brazil, directed by teacher Archie Edwards, has spurred sixth graders to construct a model of a Latin American village. Youngsters on research committees are delving for information concerning food, transportation and industry. One of the highpoints of study was the planning and preparation of an authentic Latin American meal.

Not significant? What could be more obviously basic to the success of world relations today than true understanding of foreign people and culture? By sharing tools and equipment, working together to obtain information for a common purpose, the participating sixth graders are learning democracy on the ground floor level.

150 Children

The above samples give a mere glimpse into the bee-hive activity this summer at the University of Redlands' 18th Demonstration School being conducted at Franklin Elementary School.

More than 150 children from kindergarten through sixth grade participated daily from 9 a.m. to noon, June 22 - July 25.

Under the direction of Miss Vera Kimball, principal of the Demonstration School for the third year, and Dr. Robert L. West, head of the U.R.'s School of Education, the Demonstration School is operated for a three-fold purpose:

(1) Provide enrichment experiences for children enrolled; (2) Provide a center where university students, teachers and others interested in American education can learn through observing the demonstration school's "master teachers" at work; and (3) Provide activities for children of parents who are teachers of students attending U.R. summer classes.

Show Teachers

Further, the school operates, in the words of Miss Kimball, as an "attempt to show teachers good practices in education."

The teachers chosen to carry out the practices were carefully selected by the principal on the criteria of classroom experience, successful teaching records, personality and poise.

In a "fishbowl atmosphere" (continuously observed) the Demonstration School epitomizes, in the short five-week period, the goals, activities and environment vided within the session, with no attempt to cover all activities possible during a full semester.

Observing the classroom environment, parents and visitors are discovering attractive, colorful, stimulating learning centers, relating to a myriad of activities.

Not Regimented

Gone are the regimented, rigid arrangements of row-upon-row of desks. "Social seating" and group work centers add an important ingredient to the creative atmosphere in the model classroom.

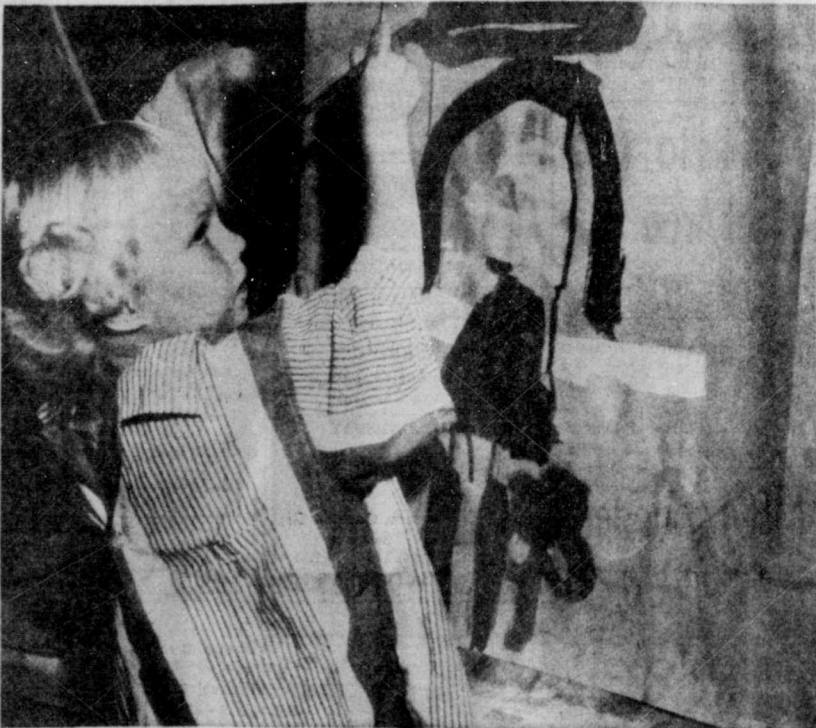

No longer is the ideal classroom considered that in which the proverbial pin can be heard. Educators agree that conversation, guided and related to the topic of study, can be a vital aid in sharing and learning.

The sounds of hammering, sawing, and the smells of lumber, paint greet the classroom observers. From the first grade up, youngsters learn skills and techniques in working with wood, clay, manipulative materials and tools in social studies related construction projects.

Field Trips

But knowledge isn't confined to the classroom. The community and world become a learning laboratory through field trips and audio-visual experience when Sara Gant's fourth graders visited the Los Angeles Harbor in the study of Modern California and its ships, harbors, and cargoes.

Beatrice Flanders' second graders visited a dairy farm. First vided within the session, with no attempt to cover all activities possible during a full semester.

Observing the classroom environment, parents and visitors are discovering attractive, colorful, stimulating learning centers, relating to a myriad of activities.

More important than the external results displayed in the "showcase" school's program are its long-range goals, the intangible results of attitudes, appreciation and understandings.

Included among the "intangibles" are the respect of the rights and welfare, the opinions and contributions of others; the sense of responsibility, the appreciation of freedom, the realization of self-confidence and the values of individuality. Truly a large order for education of any age!

Swim Suits Should Be Washed Often

Bathing suits need to be laundered after every wearing—particularly if made of elastic yarns or spandex fibers.

Careful washing in warm soap or detergent suds and rinses restores elasticity—as well as removing the sand particles, salt deposits, and other foreign matter that can ruin a pretty suit. Elasticized bathing suits should be dried in the shade.

Magnificent Engineering

The "Russian Eagle" soared off into space in his capsule, sped around the earth 17 times at 18,000 miles per hour and returned to his homeland safely. His trip was nearly equal in distance to a trip around the moon. The plain, unassailable fact is that the flight is another major achievement by the Soviet Union's scientists and engineers.

But let's not let that fact confuse other issues.

Russian propaganda machines are now grinding out the line that the space flight proves communism is superior to capitalism. Only the most juvenile rationalization will lead to the ability to swallow that argument.

We can expect soon cries for a speed-up in American space programs, pleas for us to "catch up" with the Russians in the race for space, demands for more money to support that acceleration. But even the first reactions of the chief of our space agency was to argue against such demands.

George M. Low, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said immediately after news of the Russian launching that the American program is "being pushed hard and has been pushed hard," but that it cannot go faster than it already is.

Tears of joy will be spilled over the military position—and as a result, in international competition—in which the Russian feat places this country. The plain fact of that is that such a space accomplishment reflects, if at all, on military postures years from now and does not appear to have immediate effect, other than what we allow it to have psychologically.

Let's accept the flight of Maj. Titov for what it is, a magnificent scientific and engineering achievement, and not let that be confused with the immediate issues upon which it has but slight bearing.

The Fourth of July, falling as it did this year on Tuesday, is a sharp reminder of the way we cheat ourselves of real, long holidays by our refusal to adapt the calendar to our best uses. There is nothing sacred about the calendar. It is man-made, and should be flexible enough to suit our needs. The same can be said of most of the holidays that are observed on certain dates. These dates are, for the most part, approximations. There is as much good reason to observe the Fourth on the second or the third. And there is no reason why other holidays, sacred or profane, cannot be on a floating basis, as Easter and Labor Day and others are.

This year many employees, away for the weekend, still have to come back to work on Monday, and will then take off again for the Tuesday respite. Some employers will give their employees Monday off, but not all are able to afford to. The result of the slipshod condition will mean a disruption of many businesses through absenteeism. Even worse, in terms of numbers, is the deprivation of many people of a nice long weekend holiday. In Britain production and clerical employees get four bank and general holiday a year: Easter, Monday; Whit-Monday, the first Monday in August, and Boxing Day, the first weekday after Christmas. Congress in 1939 granted an extra holiday to government workers whenever a legal holiday falls on a Saturday. The law already provided for a free Monday for them when a holiday falls on Sunday. But only one state thus far, Virginia, has declared July 3 a holiday for state employees. But then this is to take the place of Veterans' Day, which falls on Saturday. It is sheer human inertia that robs us so often of three-day weekend holidays. This Fourth is a prime example.

Dear Abby...

... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: If anybody asks you if she should marry a widower who was married to the same woman for 42 years, tell her not to.

I have been married six months to a widower who is wonderful to me when he is awake, but he calls me Ida in his sleep. I was married and widowed twice, and I never once called my present husband Wendell or Herbert. If I can be careful, so can he. I am certainly not interested in a divorce at my age, but I would like to know how to handle this heartless old cuss.

HURT
DEAR HURT: It is not easy to forget a 42-year-old hitch, so be patient with him. Your husband isn't responsible for what he calls you in his sleep. (At least you know who Ida was.)

DEAR ABBY: The boy I like is 20, but my mother won't let me go out with him because I am only 15. My mother says this boy is too fast for me, and is only out for what he can get. Abby, he does have a bad reputation, but I have been out with him twice on the sly, and every time he started something I didn't like I put him in his place and he behaved okay again. I wish you could help me convince my mother that, if she lets me date him without sneaking, she won't have to worry about me. I want to be able to date him out in the open. I know I can handle him.

CENSORED
DEAR CENSORED: — And what if you can't? Listen to your mother, Honey. Bad reputations are highly contagious. A 20-year-old man who would date a 15-year-old girl on the sly is bad news.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow with four small children. My income is limited. I would like to know if it is proper to ask the man who takes me out to pay for my baby-sitter?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: It is not proper to ASK him. But you can hint a little and, if he OFFERS, it is proper to accept.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOUBTING THOMAS: You are wrong. It is possible for twins (fraternal—not identical) to have different fathers.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

Beauty contests everywhere
Even with contestants bare.

Every time you pick up a newspaper during the summer months, it seems, there's a picture of Miss Something-or-other.

MISS UNIVERSE was recently chosen at Miami, Florida. Miss International Beauty at Long Beach and there's Atlantic City to come.

Outside of that, cities, states and counties get into the act picking a "Miss."

And almost every time there's a convention of some industry or club, they choose a queen.

I'VE READ of a Miss Flatiron, a Miss Sewing Machine, a Miss Watermelon and a Miss Hot Dog, among others, to celebrate certain weeks and months.

The latest was last weekend. Up at a ranch in Cajon Pass, 1,000 members of the American Sunbathing Association met in annual convention. Nudists, that is.

They stripped to the skin and cavorted in the raw.

AND THEY HELD a contest Sunday to pick Mr. and Miss ASA as a finale to the gathering. No outside judges were allowed.

I understand the competition among newspaper reporters and photographers for the assignment to cover the uncovered convention was brisk.

I've got to find one of the reporters who wrote up the session. I want to know where nudists carry their cigars and matches.

TALK ABOUT glass houses!

Most of the delegates to the convention set up tents at the ranch. These tents had covers over the top to ward off a possible mountain rain.

The sides were just netting to thwart bugs and stinging insects who sneaked by the guards at the gates.

Because, as it was explained, who needs privacy at a nudist convention?

WHAT SURPRISES ME is that there were no stories, up to the time of this endeavor, at least, of thrilling rescues by forest rangers and rescue units of intrepid mountain climbers, trapped on ledges above Cajon Pass.

It would be rough negotiating those steep mountain walls lugging a telescope or binoculars and lunch.

I wonder if they're going to print pictures of Miss ASA. The heck with Mr. ASA.

YOU CAN GET almost anything you want from a vending machine these days — cigarettes, candy, pop, coffee, sandwiches and, in some places, even mixed alcoholic beverages.

But the latest comes from a returned tourist who vacationed in the Rockies and enjoyed the fishing in the mountain streams.

"Do you know," he asked, "in a little town in Colorado where the fishing's good, you stick a quarter in a vending machine and get a slug of worms for bait?"

What Can Individual Do For Himself And Family If Bombs Start Falling?

By KEN REICH

Sun Staff Writer

There is a strong popular tendency, here as elsewhere, to scorn civil defense. Some people assume a nuclear attack simply won't come. Others think it may come, but are convinced if it does, they are finished regardless what they may do.

A high city official, who shall remain nameless, was talking in this vein Monday morning. Telling how his wife and a friend suggested they build a home shelter, he said he told them: "You go out and dig your shelter. I'll be sitting inside the house watching television and eating a T-bone steak while you burrow into your little holes."

This attitude is very common. Only four Palm Springs residents currently have fallout shelters.

But in case an attack comes, those who have built them stand a much better chance than those who haven't, all authorities who have studied the subject are agreed.

Dr. Herman Kahn, consultant for the Rand Corp. and considered the nation's foremost authority on what would happen to the United States in a nuclear war, has written a highly rated book, called "On Thermo-nuclear War," taking strong issue with those who laugh at civil defense. The book was published in 1960 and got top reviews.

Kahn points out that the more people saved in a nuclear attack the faster the country will recover. If only 40,000,000 die, instead of 80,000,000, the U.S. will recover in less than a fourth the time. It may be pretty gruesome, Kahn admits, to concede 40,000,000 will die. But this is the time to evaluate the situation realistically. If we can save millions of people by sinking a few billion dollars in civil defense, we ought to do it.

Individual Efforts

In previous articles Palm Springs civil defense on a city basis has been described and analyzed. But the most crucial type of civil defense could well be what the individual does for himself and his family. If he is prepared, if he knows what he is doing, his chances for survival are much improved.

One of the local residents currently building a fallout shelter puts it this way: "People can't forget the danger. It's here. All I'm thinking about is saving my worthless hide and that of my family."

"You can live through this. Anyone who says you can't is a coward and worse. People have got the wrong conception of nuclear war. There's going to be millions still around yet. It's not the end of everything. But life will belong to those who prepare."

"After a nuclear attack, it'll be a long while before federal aid can come in. It'll be a militant atmosphere. People will have to work or less take care of themselves."

This resident's shelter has a 16-inch thick concrete ceiling with eight inch concrete block walls. Sunk 20 feet into the ground, it is big enough to take care of six or seven people. It will be stocked with supplies designed to last for two weeks. It cost $3,000.

The man who built it doesn't want to be identified. He is afraid that if people knew a shelter was nearby they would flock to his house in case of war. Then he is clear about what he would do: he would shoot them if necessary to keep them out.

Persons desiring to build a fallout shelter here can easily get architectural plans for it and directions as to what to put in it. All they have to do is go to the police station and pick up the pamphlets, free of charge, provided by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Specifications

One of these, "The Family Fallout Shelter" is a 31-page booklet which contains a complete set of specifications for several types of shelters. Another gives facts about fallout protection. Yet another examines the whole question of how to survive nuclear attack.

The lesson all these booklets seek to get across is that there is a lot the average homeowner can do to prepare himself for nuclear attack and a lot he can do should the attack come.

For instance, to take just one side of the question, what should you have on hand in case of thermonuclear war? The government lists 16 basic essentials.

These are (1) a flashlight and extra batteries, (2) a battery-powered radio and extra batteries, (3) first-aid kits, (4) stored water or other liquids in the amount of seven gallons per person, (5) a 14-day supply of food, paper plates, and napkins, (6) cooking and eating utensils, measuring cup, can and bottle openers, pocket knife and matches, (7) special foods for babies and invalids, (8) a 20 gallon garbage can, (9) a 10 gallon can for human wastes, (10) a covered nail for bathroom purposes, (11) toilet tissue, paper towels, personal sanitary supplies, disposable diapers, and soap, (12) one blanket per person, rubber sheeting, and special equipment for the sick, (13) grocery bags and a week's accumulation of newspapers for wrapping garbage, (14) two pints of household chlorine and one quart of five per cent DDT, (15) wrench, screwdriver and shovel, axe and crowbar to free yourself from debris, if necessary, and (16) waterproof gloves.

All of these items should be stored in a fallout shelter, equipped in every way for immediate use. If a person were not in the immediate blast area, such preparations should be enough to insure his survival from at least the direct effects of nuclear attack.

Few Shelters

Of course, authorities concede that few will have fallout shelters, or even have gathered together the supplies listed above. But even in this case one's chances will be better if he has read the civil defense leaflet and knows something about what he can do.

Common sense, civil defense authorities emphasize, is not enough. It doesn't help a person who knows nothing; it is only helpful when one knows a bare minimum about the problem at hand.

Palm Springs' special problem, assuming this area isn't a target for a nuclear attack, will undoubtedly be fallout. Even should a person have no fallout shelter, there is still a lot he can do to protect himself.

If he suspects that dust on him is radioactive, for example, he should remove his outer garments outside a shelter, which may be only his own home, and leave them there. He should then wash the uncovered parts of his body and throw the water outside.

If any unpackaged food has been exposed to fallout, it should be decontaminated by peeling and washing. The food, authorities warn, should not be discarded. Food may be in very short supply and even though contaminated, eating it would be better than starving.

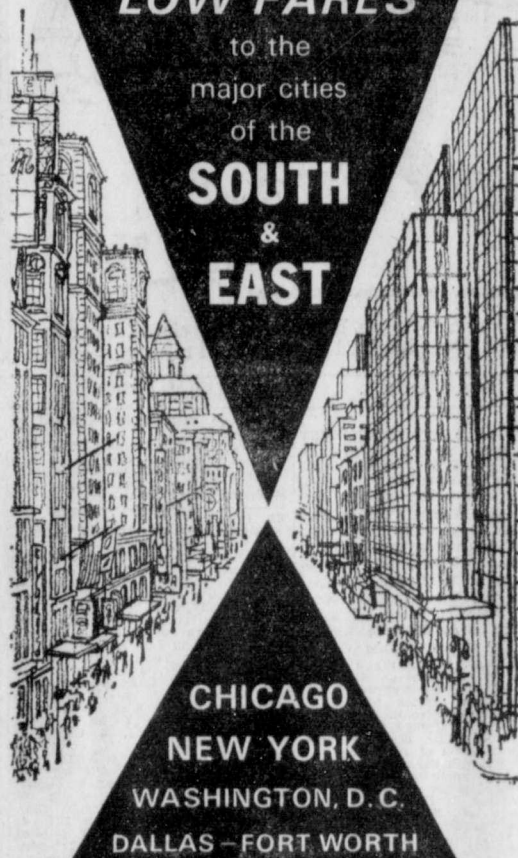

Simple staying in a hall in your own home would provide some protection. And one should keep tuned to the Conelrad stations at 640 and 1240 on the radio dial for information related to fallout and other dangers. These would be the only stations on the air.

In short, authorities feel it is wise to take civil defense seriously. Should an attack ever come those who had would be a lot better off than those who had not. At the same time, citizens are cautioned against being alarmist. Few propose that America drop its highway, school, and other public projects and spend all its money and effort on fallout shelters. A balanced approach is believed by City Manager Dan Wagner, for one, to be most desirable.

"I don't think there's going to be a war, but I think we should be prepared if there is one," he said this week.

Palm Springs' School District Gets Coat of Bright New Makeup

The Palm Springs Unified School District's paint crew, headed by chief painter and crew chief Joseph R. Keck, is nearing the end of the first complete round of a four-year painting rotation schedule. Keck, a district employee three years, told The Desert Sun his 12-man complement will complete enough this summer to permit beginning of the second complete cycle of painting for the district's seven grade schools, junior high school and high school next summer. The Cathedral City school is being painted by a contractor this summer. "Of course Agua Caliente School is new, and some of the new steel classrooms will just begin to need attention next year," Keck reported. With a crew of recent high school graduates, four college students, and members of the district's bus driving and maintenance crews, Keck is following a program of preventive maintenance aimed at keeping the district from major rush paint jobs and material damage. "In addition to painting in Desert Hot Springs and the high school this summer, we're refinishing a 1,000 desks," Keck said. He explained that "the young fellows don't feel they're doing much un-

Anita Gillette Smash Hit in Broadway Show

NEW YORK (UPI) — The future of the Broadway musical "Carnival" looked bleak Monday night when its star, Anna Maria Alberghetti, was forced to leave the cast and enter a hospital. But the show must go on, as tradition dictates, and an unknown actress named Anita Gillette, Miss Alberghetti's understudy, made the most of her big chance to give the show a strong boost. The capacity audience awarded her with thunderous applause. The show's producer, David Merrick, said it was "the best replacement performance I've ever known on Broadway" and predicted that Miss Gillette "will be a star." "I wish I had been clairvoyant enough to know at the beginning that she was that much better than Miss Alberghetti," Merrick said.

Blonde Lass Has Trans-Miss Lead

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Sixty-four qualifiers, led by Sherry Wheeler, a 20-year-old blonde from Glasgow, Ky., begin match play here today in the 31st annual Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Miss Wheeler, who had never played a golf course in the Northwest until Monday, fired a two-under-par 71 to take medalist honors as qualifying action got under way. She carded a one-under par 36 on the front side and a one-under par 35 on the back.

Cards Topple Reds 5-1 As Bucs Sink Phils 3-1

The Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City Athletics, 5-4, and the Boston Red Sox swept a double-header from the Minnesota Twins by identical 5-4 scores.

The Cincinnati Reds fell six percentage points behind the idle first-place Los Angeles Dodgers by dropping a 5-1 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals, and the Pittsburgh Pirates handed the Philadelphia Phillies their 10th straight defeat, 3-1, in the only National League games.

Homers Pace Orioles
Home runs by Jim Gentile and Jackie Brandt carried the Orioles to their victory over the A's, whom they have beaten 10 out of 11 times this season.

Gentile's homer was his 31st and broke the Baltimore club record of 30 set by Gus Triandos in 1958. Brandt had a single in addition to his homer and drove in three runs. Chuck Estrada gained his ninth victory with help from Jack Fisher and Billy Hoelt. Art

Hertzke To Face Potent Rookie Club Wednesday
A potent team of Dodger Rookies comes into town Wednesday to face the local Coachella Valley Savings and Loan hardball team at the Polo Grounds at 8 p.m.

It will be the second appearance here this summer for the team consisting of outstanding high school and college players from all over the state of California. The Rookies beat CVSLA 14-11 last month.

Some of the recent graduates of the Los Angeles team are Tommy Davis, Bob Aspromonte, Willie Davis, and Joe Moeller. Eleven of the 18 members of last year's squad signed professional baseball contracts with the Dodgers and other clubs.

The Rookies are coached by Ken Myers and Ed Roebuck, a former Dodger pitcher. They have played 37 games thus far this summer against teams in California, Arizona and Nevada.

Warren Linville, coach of CVSLA, announced that George Hertzke would start for the locals on the mound. Joe Lewis is slated to catch.

Cleo James, who has received an invitation to try out for the Minnesota Twins later this month, will be at shortstop for Palm Springs. James got a double, a triple, and a homerun against the Rookies in their last visit here.

Signs For Bout

NEW YORK (UPI)—Isaac Logart of Camaguey, Cuba, has signed to meet Jorge Fernandez of Argentina in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, Aug. 19.

Twin Ms Homerless

Angels Fall 4-1 To Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Throw in a peculiar success story, mix it well with the law of averages and what have you got? The Los Angeles Angels aren't sure, but they are hoping it's a win over New York in Yankee Stadium.

Los Angeles lost its sixth straight game in the stadium Monday night when the front-running New Yorkers, paced by Yogi Berra's 145th home run, bounced the Angels, 4-1.

But the Angels have good reason to think tonight may be different. Natural television hams, the Angels have won nearly all of their televised games. And tonight's game with the Yankees is being beamed into Southern California.

Sooner Or Later

Add this to the fact that Los Angeles should win sometime sooner or later in the stadium—though the Yankee bats vehemently deny this—and you see why the Angels figure tonight is the night.

Eli Grba (5-11) will pitch for Los Angeles while manager Ralph Houk, who returned to the New York bench Monday night after a brief suspension, will hurl Bill

Stafford (9-5).

Ken McBride, now 9-8, the Angels' winningest pitcher, looked for a while like he might get his 10th victory last night, but Los Angeles batters left eight runners stranded during the evening to ruin any thought of a win.

McBride allowed only seven hits and struck out eight, including Mantle twice, once with the bases loaded. But left-hander Bud Daley (9-15) who became the first southpaw to last a full nine innings against the Angels since May 21, permitted only six hits. Los Angeles got its lone run in the top of the second when Joe Koppe's infield single scored Ken Hunt from third. The Yanks tied it in the third when Roger Maris, who was also held homerless, squeezed in Bobby Richardson.

Berra's clout into the right field stand put the Yanks ahead for good in the sixth. It was Yogi's 332nd of his career, moving him into 14th spot ahead of Hank Greenberg on the all-time homer list.

The Yankees added a final pair of runs in the eighth on a walk to Maris, a single to Mantle Hunt's error and a wild pitch.

Sports in Brief

PICTON, Ont. (UPI)—The United States will have to Out more power in its unlimited power boats if it's going to recapture the historic Harmsworth Trophy, the bronze plaque which represents the world's championship.

Monday for the third successive year, an American challenge fizzled on the sheltered waters of nearby Long Reach, when Canada's Miss Supertest III handily defeated and outclassed Miss Detroit.

HELSEINKI, Finland (UPI)—American athletes are getting a stiff battle from the Russians and the Germans in the deaf Olympic games.

Jim McFadden helped the Yanks set their third record of these games when he ran the anchor leg on the victorious American 1,600-meter relay team and then he tied the mark for the 200-meter run.

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Frank Budd equaled the world record for the 100-yard dash and Ralph Boston had a record breaking broad jump invalidated Monday in an international track and field meet at Bislet Stadium.

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Warren Spahn, with the 40-year-old arm, will bid for his 300th victory when he faces the Chicago Cubs Friday. Only 12 other pitchers in the history of major league baseball have won 300 or more games, and the last to enter this never-land was Lefty Grove of the old Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox in 1941.

Spahn won his 299th game last Friday night in San Francisco.

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Roxell Mosley, 154½, West Los Angeles, scored a 12-round decision over Herman Fandell, 157½, Fontana, Monday night in a boxing match at La Vista Supper Club's outdoor ring.

Wisconsin Archer National Winner

OAKBROOK, Ill.—Clayton Sherman, Madison, Wis., won the Senior Men's Amateur National Archery Association target championship here with a score of 3642. Ed Tarrant of Hinsdale, Ill., placed second with a score of 3642.

Clay Sherman is a 33-year-old carpenter, and in addition to possessing the National Archery Association championship, will be a member of the team representing the United States for the world's championship in Oslo, Norway in August.

Vicki Cook became the Women's Amateur champion, with a score of 3541. Miss Cook is from Minneapolis. Miss Regina Wall, a Gage Park archer from Chicago placed sixth in the FITA qualifications. Miss Grace Frye of Toledo, Ohio took third place with a score of 3506.

The Senior Men's Non-Amateur championship was won by Gene Ellis of Elkhart, Ind., with a score of 3610. Jim Caspers of Racine, Wis., placed second with a score of 3591, and third place was taken by Bob Pender from Downers Grove, Ill., who had a score of 3557.

The Senior Women's Non-Amateur championship was won by Margaret Tillbury of Springfield, Ohio with a score of 3695. Ann Clark of Cincinnati placed second with a score of 3417. Miss Artie Palkowski from Santa Fe Springs, Calif., placed third with a score of 3237.

Lombardi Inks New Packer Pact

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Vince is here to stay!

Vince Lombardi, head coach and general manager of the National Football League Packers, was rewarded with a new five-year contract and a raise in pay Monday. Packer fans may have heard that the "coach of the year" in 1959 would leave for another job.
